DECLARATION OF POLICY

Section 1(a). Experience in the two World Wars and the period between has shown that the acquisition and analysis of foreign intelligence solely by separate departments and agencies is inadequate to inform properly the people of the United States and their representatives of the events, trends and plans in foreign countries, which, if known, might serve to avert armed conflict. The lesson thus learned is that foreign intelligence procurement must be coordinated and its analysis centralized so that all sources and facilities may be utilized to their fullest potentialities. Accordingly, it is hereby declared to be the policy of the people of the United States that in order to assure the common defense and security, the processing, analysis and dissemination of foreign intelligence shall be centralized and its procurement coordinated so as to keep fully informed the proper officials of the Government.

(b) Purpose of Act. It is the purpose of this Act to carry out

(e) Subject to policies established by the National Intelligence Authority, the Agency shall, to the greatest extent practicable, make use of the facilities and services of the military and civilian intelligence agencies of the Government and may conduct intelligence projects through, or in cooperation with, such agencies. All such agencies are hereby authorized to make such facilities and services available to the Agency and to participate in the conduct of its projects.

(f) To the extent recommended by the National Intelligence Authority and approved by the President, (1) the intelligence operations of the departments and other agencies of the Government shall be open to inspection by the Director in connection with the planning functions of the Agency and (2) the intelligence possessed by such departments and agencies shall be made freely available to the Director for correlation, evaluation, or dissemination.

and to participate in the conduct of its projects.

(f) ~~to the extent recommended by the National Intelligence Authority and approved by the President, (1) the intelligence operations of the departments and other agencies of the Government shall be open to inspection by the Director in connection with the planning functions of the Central Intelligence Agency, and intelligence possessed by such departments and agencies shall be made freely available to the Director for correlation, evaluation, or dissemination.~~
